For encouraging drip irrigation, it is decided to provide overriding priority to applicants in Tatkal Scheme 2010 with following provisions

B

1. Those applicants, who have submitted their applications for switch over within the stipulated time in the respective Sub division, will be given an option for adopting drip irrigation. However, at this stage, no new application, who has not registered their application for switch over under Tatkal Scheme 2010, will be entertained. Applicant, who adopts drip irrigation, will be given overriding priority over the applicants preferring normal flood irrigation.
2. Those, who intends to adopt for drip irrigation will have to register with M/s. Gujarat Green Revolution Co. (GGRC) and along with GGRC registration letter, may file application with the respective Sub division in the format attached herewith.
3. Applicant, who opts for drip irrigation and submit his application along with registration letter from GGRC, will be charged 50% (instead of 80%) amount of Technical Sanction amount excluding Service Charges as mentioned at A(1) above. All other charges mentioned under (A) above, will remain unaltered for those, who are opting for drip irrigation.
4. Applicants, who are released connections on priority, will have to maintain drip irrigation system for minimum period of seven years. During this period, while checking the installation, if the consumer (who is given connection on priority) is not maintaining drip irrigation system, then his connection will be disconnected immediately and no refund will be made for estimate and other charges paid.
5. Applicant, who opts for Drip irrigation will be issued detailed estimate only after receipt of confirmation from GGRC that party has signed four party agreement.
6. While releasing agriculture connection to a consumer, a certificate from GGRC required to the effect that drip irrigation has been installed in the party's farm and it is as per GGRC specifications and standard and party has completed all required formalities as required by GGRC.
7. Applicant, who wishes to opt for drip irrigation will have to submit their options between 1st May 2011 to 31st May 2011 along with Application form for GGRC.
8. Under drip irrigation option, only "Drip" type irrigation will be accepted. No other method will be considered for overriding priority.

9. Those applicants, who had earlier opted for Drip irrigation, but their Drip system is not installed and their application is under process at GGRC; and if such applicants, who have not applied under Tatkal Scheme-2010 for switch over, but have applied for registration with GGRC prior to 31st March 11 can also avail this scheme provided connection applied for does not fall in Dark Zone.
10. The minimum area to be covered under drip irrigation should be 2.0 hector or 50% of total holding land,(5 acre) whichever is higher. However, farmers whose land is less than 2.0 hector; they should adopt Drip Irrigation in their total holding land.
11. An advertisement (as per matter attached herewith) should be given in the leading local Gujarati News papers for wide publicity and collection of option forms should commence from 1st May 2011 till 31st May 2011.
